PUSH INQUIRY INTO DISASTER

Washington Begins Burial of Theatre Dead as Officials Move to Fix Blame

Recheck of Death List Cuts Toll to 97—Several of Injured in Critical Condition

Federal Grand Jury Acts—Army Engineers to Make Study of Structure

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—While the city began the burial of its dead today, District of Columbia authorities pushed their investigation of the Knickerbocker theatre disaster and the senate was expected to take action on the resolution of Senator Cooper, republican, Kansas, proposing an independent inquiry by that body. A resolution for the same purpose also was pending in the house.

Ninety-seven lives lost. Ninety-seven persons, according to a final and official list issued today by the District of Columbia authorities, lost their lives in the collapse Saturday night, under a burden of snow, of the Knickerbocker theatre. Any additions to the list, it was said, would result from the final termination of injuries sustained by other victims.

Of the total of 133 injured, 62 remained in hospitals today, with a dozen reported in critical condition. P. J. Shaughnessy, second assistant postmaster general, although included among the dead, was said to be still showing improvement today.

In addition to an exhaustive investigation of the disaster being pressed by the District of Columbia commissioners, the federal grand jury which visited the scene yesterday as the first step in its investigation, was ready today to call the first witnesses in its efforts to fix the blame. The coroner's jury, also investigating today, requested the war department today to assign army engineers to make a study of the structure.

To Raze Walls of Theatre. Preparations to raze the walls of the theatre were under way today, the search of the ruins for victims having been completed yesterday.

Reductions in the death list which the police early today believed would be final, resulted from the tentative elimination of eight names for which the police have been unable to find any addresses. There are, moreover, no account for these and a careful check of hospitals and undertaking establishments had failed to establish any victims of these names. They are P. N. Walsh, Miss M. P. Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. Lamb, W. M. Crawford and P. H. Hall.

In addition to these, Miss Gertrude Taylor of Washington, was found to have been reported dead by error, and Ernesto Nattoli, who was killed was found to have been listed again as Ernest Martello. These 10 eliminations would reduce the total to 95.

PLYMOUTH, England, Jan. 31. (By the Associated Press).—Covered from stem to stern with ice and snow, the American liner Koonland, from New York arrived today after a tempestuous voyage. She was here to for 10 hours last Tuesday when she ran into a hurricane and for nearly a week she was obliged to buffet continuous gales which sometimes blew at the rate of 90 miles an hour. Seas frequently swept the decks and for days at a time the vessel resembled raging torrents. No accidents were reported.

The Koonland passed the Belgian steamer Samland, from New York for Hamburg. The Samland reported she had been driven out of her course.

ROME, Jan. 31. (By the Associated Press).—Interest in the choice of a successor to Pope Benedict is increasing as the time draws near for assembling of the Sacred college, and many attempts to find an indication of the result are being made.

INCREASE IN EXPENSES

City's Interest and Debt Payments This Year Largest in History

The year 1922 will call for the biggest debt and interest payments in the history of the city, the combined amounts showing an increase over last year of $124,335 and reaching in a grand total the sum of $926,477.

Tremendous borrowings last year, totaling $2,044,000, of which the new high school and Memorial auditorium accounted for $1,450,000, placed the city in a financial strait at an unprecedented figure and brought the city's general debt, exclusive of tax revenue and water works loan, to the sum of $3,660,335 on January 1. On January 1, 1921, it amounted to $4,178,835.

Last year there was borrowed $169,000, or fixed charges at an unprecedented figure and brought the city's general debt, exclusive of tax revenue and water works loan, to the sum of $3,660,335 on January 1. On January 1, 1921, it amounted to $4,178,835.

The interest payments for this year, presented in the estimate as $429,072, are approximately at best, for the auditor's office does not yet know what the rate of discount for 1922 will be, nor is it at all clear what the temporary loan will total.

The borrowings last year, amounting to $2,044,000, were divided as follows:

High School Auditorium	$400,000
Bridge Construction	100,000
Sewer Construction	135,000
Macadam	20,000
Permanent Paving	105,000
School Houses	82,000
Sidewalks	20,000
Fire Houses	30,000
Land for Playgrounds	32,000

LOWELL'S TAG DAY FOR THE UNEMPLOYED

Lowell's tag day for its unemployed will be held on Saturday of this week and already plans are under way to make it count for something substantial along the line of needy charity.

The idea originated with the mayor's committee on unemployment, William A. Mitchell, chairman, and they have enlisted the aid of practically every ladies' auxiliary, high school and Normal school pupils and actresses from E. P. Keith's and the Lowell Opera House in the street side of the tag.

As a direct appeal to the people of the city, the employment committee today authorized the publication of the following statement, aimed to stimulate interest in the drive:

To the People of Lowell:
The unemployment situation in Lowell is very serious. Many men and women are out of work and many families are in want. The committee on unemployment hereby appeals to you to help.

WILL FIGHT STATE CONTROL

New Organization to Fight State Control of Penal Institutions

Home Rule League of Massachusetts Will Have Headquarters in Worcester

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, Jan. 31.—The fight against state control of county penal institutions is to be waged this year chiefly through a new organization, to be known as the Home Rule League of Massachusetts, with headquarters in Worcester.

The organization is non-partisan, and its sole purpose is to prevent the passage of any legislation which will increase the state's control over county institutions. It will give its support to a bill now pending before the general court providing for the appointment of a commission to take over the control of all county institutions—thus establishing the unified control which is demanded by those who support the state control bill, but placing the commission itself in the control of county officials.

The bill referred to provides for the appointment of seven, of whom two would be county commissioners, two sheriffs, one the state commissioner of correction, and two persons appointed by the governor.

On the council board of the new organization, announced today, are included Benjamin F. Bridges of Greenfield, former warden of the state prison; John T. Coughlin of Fall River; Dr. Thomas J. Barrett, George R. Booth and William L. McLaughlin of Worcester; Gilbert A. A. Pevey of Cambridge; Edmund A. Sullivan of Salem; Miss M. Swift, Donaldson of Brockton; Dr. J. N. Carrier of Fitchburg; Dr. W. J. Collins of Northampton; Milton B. Warner of Pittsfield; Col. Charles Young of Springfield; Rev. G. H. Kershaw of New Bedford; and Robert J. Howell, Mrs. Isaac Gordon, Walter O. Stoull, Mrs. Frank White, Leslie E. and Chester G. Sawyer of Boston, with George G. Witham of Worcester as secretary.

SAFETY FIRST MEASURES

Board of Health Formulates Rules as Precautionary Measure Against Flu

Quoting the prevalence of influenza in a number of communities throughout the country, the Lowell board of health has deemed it advisable to take some precautionary measures and to formulate a few health rules for this city, observance of which will aid in limiting the spread of this disease and in avoiding confinement.

At the order of the board, the following rules were given out in the form of recommendations at the office of the board, today:

- Avoid crowds and poorly ventilated places.
- Avoid the person who coughs and sneezes.
- Wash hands before eating.
- If any person in his home is affected, isolate the case, use individual towels and hot dishes.
- Do not neglect a cold. Rest in bed. Keep body warm. Consult a physician early.
- In addition, all school physicians have been instructed by the board to send home immediately any pupil who shows symptoms of cold. The board members feel that inasmuch as the health of Lowell has been so affected by the ordinary, any epidemic of influenza here would be short lived and of mild type, but feel, nevertheless, that it is the part of wisdom to avoid, if possible, even the mildest form.

The statement is signed by Dr. Henry Bruner, chairman, Fisher H. Pearson and Dr. Francis R. Mahony, members of the board of health.

AUDITOR TAKES OATH OF OFFICE

Daniel E. Martin Qualifies for Office of Auditor Before City Clerk

J. Joseph Hennessy to Be Retained in an Advisory Capacity

Retiring Officer Has Consented to Remain on Request of Mayor Brown

Daniel E. Martin qualified for the office of city auditor this afternoon before City Clerk Stephen Flynn and will start in on his duties tomorrow morning. Assisting him for a time in an advisory capacity, for which he will receive compensation, will be J. Joseph Hennessy, retiring auditor.

On request of Mayor George H. Brown, Mr. Hennessy has consented to remain in the office until such a time as Mr. Martin becomes sufficiently familiar with the workings of the department and to this suggestion, the new auditor gladly acquiesced.

Inasmuch as Mr. Hennessy has been around city hall for a number of years, I have suggested to him that he hold over in his office for a time so that the new auditor may get himself for his work more easily," said the mayor. "I have every reason to believe that Mr. Martin is well fitted for the position and I know that he will handle the office successfully and creditably, but municipal finance is quite a problem to master all at once and I feel that Mr. Hennessy will be able to give him a great deal of valuable information and assistance."

Mr. Martin's entering the department estimates that he will be able to take over the office, but the city will compensate Mr. Hennessy for whatever extra time he gives to the work.

It is felt by the mayor that it would be quite a task for Mr. Martin, or any other man, for that matter, to step into the auditor's office and immediately grasp the entire situation, especially at this time when the appropriation estimates are practically ready for consideration by the budget and audit commission. Mr. Hennessy has had full charge of gathering the department estimates together in book form and, of course, is intimately familiar with all the figures and methods of procedure.

When the suggestion was made to Mr. Martin today that Mr. Hennessy had been asked to remain in the office for a little while in an advisory capacity, the new auditor gladly welcomed the anticipated assistance.

Earthquake of Greatest Intensity

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—An earthquake of greatest intensity, probably 2500 to 2600 miles south of Washington, was registered early today at the Georgetown seismographical observatory. The quake began at about 8:25 a. m., and 10 minutes later the tremors had become so pronounced as to throw the registering needles off the scale. The quake also was registered on the seismograph of the weather bureau, officials of which described it as "monstrous." The Rev. Francis Tondorf, director of the Georgetown seismographical observatory, and one of the foremost earthquake authorities of the world, said the quake was "enormous." Both machines were still registering the quake at 10 o'clock.

Recorded at Harvard

CAMBRIDGE, Jan. 31.—An earthquake shock, so violent that it put the recording apparatus at the Harvard university seismographic station temporarily out of commission, occurred today. Its scene was computed roughly at 2778 miles from here by Prof. J. B. Woodworth, in what direction he was unable to say. The vibrations began at 8:24 a. m., and at 8:40 became so violent Prof. Woodworth said, that the needles which register them were thrown off the drum on which the vibrations were recorded.

Most Severe Shock in 15 Years

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 31.—The seismograph at Regis college here today registered the most severe earthquake recorded in the last 15 years, according to Father Forestall. The disturbance was estimated to be approximately 1500 miles south of Denver. The shock was even greater than registered here at the time of the San Francisco earthquake.

SUPERIOR, Wis., Jan. 31.—A spectacular fire at the Great Northern Ore dock No. 2 at Allouez, a suburb, which for a time threatened other ore docks, was brought under control today through combined efforts of Superior firemen, and a crew from Duluth. The loss may reach $2,000,000.

Saturn Has Added an Asteroid

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—Saturn, in addition to its rings and satellites, has added an asteroid, according to Prof. E. B. Frost of the University of Chicago, home today after a visit to Yerkes observatory at Lake Geneva. The asteroid, a small planet or planetoid, is similar to a small comet, and only an imperfect view of it, was obtained as it circled around the melancholy planet.

Dozen Buildings Destroyed by Fire

CLAYSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 31.—A dozen buildings were destroyed by fire here today with a loss of $250,000. The flames, which spread rapidly were checked in a warehouse containing 300,000 pounds of wool.

ENGINEERS INSPECT NEW STREET LINES

District Engineer Sahlin of the division of highways, state department of public works, went over the ground in First street this morning with City Engineer Stephen Kearney regarding two new street lines already staked out between Bridge and Read streets—one providing for an 8-foot widening and the other for a 10-foot widening.

Engineer Sahlin's visit was preparatory to a conference to be held in Lowell some time later in the week between the city engineer, F. C. Pillsbury, division engineer and an engineer of the county commission, when the new lines again will be gone over and further intensions made.

It is understood that the local street railway company would like to place a double track in First street for a distance of about 100 yards and this undoubtedly will be done.

City Engineer Kearney said today that it seems to be a growing opinion that the widening of all land and buildings thereon on the river side of First street will eventually become a necessity, inasmuch as that would offer unusual opportunities for park development.

HACK ON THE JOB
Francis J. O'Hare, agent of the board of health, was in his office yesterday afternoon for the first time since his fall about two weeks ago, when he sustained a triple fracture of his left arm at the elbow. While he is somewhat weakened as the result of his confinement, he expects to be able to attend to his office duties before long.

OFFICER DIES OF GUN WOUNDS

World War Veteran Fatally Shot in Battle With Negro Early Today

Aged Negro Stood Off Siege

of 60 Police Officers in So. End, Boston

Told Wife He Was Saving Out Bullets to Kill Her and Himself

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—Patrolman Daniel J. McShane, a world war veteran, died today of wounds sustained when Henry Murray, a negro, 62 years of age, stood off a siege of 60 police officers armed with riot guns in his house in the South End in the early morning hours. Several others were injured. Murray, arraigned on a charge of murder, pleaded not guilty, and was held without bail.

The negro told officers that he had planned to kill his wife and himself before he submitted to capture. He had told his wife, he said, that he was saving out one bullet to shoot himself. She said she wanted to die with him and he set aside a second bullet, he told the officers, but he could not force himself to fire when she told him to.

Patrolman Robert J. Dalton, an officer who was with McShane, was killed.

BOSTON HOTEL RAID

Quincy House Seizure Passes From Jurisdiction of Federal Commissioner

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—The raid of Dec. 20 in the Quincy house, where liquor was seized in a room immediately above one in which a dinner was being given (Gov. Cox passed from the jurisdiction of the federal commissioner to the grand jury today. John J. McCarthy, proprietor of the hotel, who had been held on a charge of illegal possession of the liquor, was discharged on motion of government counsel, who explained there was no evidence that he knew of the presence of the contraband. Harold G. Kern, against whom similar charges are standing, waived examination and was held for the federal grand jury.

Commissioner Nelson ruled that the search warrant on which Harold D. Wilson made the raid as prohibition enforcement supervisor, was valid. Wilson, who was removed from office a few days ago, was in court but did not testify. He had two bottles which he had brought along as exhibits in the case and which he turned over to a prohibition agent for safe keeping.

Knickerbocker, millionaire paper manufacturer, committed suicide last night, according to Asst. Medical Examiner C. S. R. Cassassa, by jumping from the window of her apartment on the 11th floor of an apartment house at 135 Central Park West.

The woman's leap to death was witnessed by scores of women and children strolling along the Central Park walk and by many persons in passing automobiles.

Mrs. Knickerbocker's husband died 15 years ago. She has since occupied the apartment with Miss Emmie Mines, a personal companion, and a retinue of 10 servants.

Miss Mines told the police that she and Mrs. Knickerbocker had been out for their daily automobile ride and had returned to the apartment about 5 o'clock. Mrs. Knickerbocker, she added, appeared to be in good spirits during the day and when she went to her room last evening to dress for dinner. Miss Mines could assign no motive for Mrs. Knickerbocker's act.

CHAS. M. SCHWAB TALKS ON TARIFF BILL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—No tariff bill will build a foundation for prosperity unless it provides an American valuation basis to "renew" the hold in our present laws which the fluctuations in foreign exchange have torn in it. Charles M. Schwab of New York declared in a letter read today before the tariff convention here of the National Association of Manufacturers by J. T. Edgerton, president.

"Today we are confronted with a basic weakness in our tariff policy which is affecting injuriously the whole industrial fabric of the nation," Mr. Schwab said. "Fluctuations in foreign exchange are playing havoc with wages, prices and orders. Because our present tariff laws were framed at a time when foreign moneys were normal, or yielding revenue are concerned."

"We have American standards in everything but our tariff. Today, in my opinion, the hour has come when we should put American standards in our tariff laws. The simple and effective way of doing this is by substituting American standards of value for the present archaic standards of foreign values."

LIGHTING CONFERENCE AND DEMONSTRATION

Industrial and commercial men of Lowell and vicinity will have a chance to gain some valuable knowledge on lighting methods when the Edison lamp company holds its lighting conference and demonstration in the Y.M.C.A. on Monday and Tuesday of next week.

The purpose of the coming display is to demonstrate the proper manner in which stores and industrial plants should be lighted. It will show how to make shop windows more attractive and how to decrease the electric bills by the proper use of lighting facilities, along with a number of other valuable demonstrations. There will be absolutely no selling or soliciting of orders at this show. It is for educational purposes only.

Another feature will be the discussion of proper lighting installation and their relation to maximum sales. Executives will be given an opportunity to see for themselves how light effects sales. During the past year more than 12,000 executives in 75 cities have attended these demonstrations.

This conference and demonstration has been endorsed by leading executives in all phases of business, including chambers of commerce and Rotary clubs of 22 states.

The demonstration here is made possible through the efforts of the leading electrical stores. Four experts will be sent direct from the Edison company's plant in Harrison, N. J., to conduct the exhibit.

On Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock commercial lighting will be gone over, while at 8 o'clock industrial lighting will be the topic taken up. On Tuesday the same topics will be gone over but with the order reversed from evening to afternoon.

The chamber of commerce is making invitations to all the leading stores and industrial plants in the city to attend the gatherings. The Lowell "Ad" club is especially invited to be present.

COLORED PEOPLE WIN VICTORY

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—Lieut. Julian D. Ralphy at the South armory was informed yesterday, through Congressman Tinkham, that the war department has issued an order changing the designation of the 1st Separate Battalion, M. N. D. (colored) from "auxiliary engineers" to "infantry."

This change is the result of the fight which the colored people of this state have been making for the past two years for representation in the combat arms of the National Guard. This battalion was authorized by Gov. Coolidge, but the federal government refused until now to recognize it as a noncombatant branch of the service.

Talk of another meeting between Dempsey and Carpenter is ridiculous. Of course no one can blame Dempsey for looking on such a fight with favor as it would be soft picking.

fishing schooners dropped into Davy Jones' locker, and 1922 already has a lengthy list of losses. The entire Newfoundland fleet today is not more than half that of 1900. The number of schooners between 30 and 35 tons in service today is about 500, as against from 1100 to 1500 in the closing years of the 19th century.

During the last 20 years, 10 schooners have been lost to one built each season.

At present the Newfoundland government offers a bounty for shipbuilding.

FURTHER EXPANSION BY THE ROBERTSON CO.

The Robertson Co., well known Lowell home furnishings, has just enlarged its floor space on Prescott street and now occupies the entire area of the building running from 72 to 82 Prescott street. Previously the store extended only from 78 to 82. The Robertson Co., one of the largest in New England, now occupies the floors of the building in which it is located, together with several wings on either side, giving it a total floor space of 45,000 square feet.

The new addition brings 3500 square feet. The ground floor of the extension will be devoted to children's furniture and the basement to toys. The store offices have been moved to the center of the establishment and the side near the Old Lowell National bank will hereafter be devoted exclusively to crockery and aluminum. It is interesting to note that this is the Robertson Co.'s second expansion within a year.

BOSTON MAN TALKS ON PROHIBITION

The 41st anniversary exercises of the Christian Endeavor were held last night in St. Paul's church. Osmond E. Coburn presided. The address of the evening was given by Alvin J. Shurtle of Boston, who spoke on "Prohibition as brought about by Christian Endeavor and other kindred organizations."

He outlined the work of Christian Endeavor, how it entered upon the work of the kingdom, its four spheres of action, its wide range of work and its community activities. The exercises were opened with supper at 6:30. H. E. Hockman of the Y.M.C.A. then led a song service. The formal opening of the program was effected by Miss Doris Senior, president of the C. E. society. Alexander H. J. Ross responded for the union. Miss Alice Dowrey then called the roll, after which prayer was conducted by Rev. John Singleton and Rev. J. A. Cairns. The Alpha quartet sang several selections which were followed by the speaker.

A Very Delicate Child Was Made Strong and Robust by Taking Vinol

DAUGHTER OF MRS. L. W. GEORGE

Alken, S. C.—"My little daughter was thin, delicate and ailing. I was very much worried over her condition. I heard about Vinol and decided to try it, and I must say the results were simply marvelous. Her appetite improved, she gained in weight, her color came back in her cheeks, and all my friends comment on the change, as she is now one of the healthiest children in town. All mothers who have delicate, puny, ailing children should try Vinol." Mrs. L. W. George, 1119 Newberry st., Alken, S. C.

While her Daddy was away in the War

Drawn from actual photograph of little May Janette Martin, daughter of Mrs. J. Claude Martin, 1951 Felix Ave., Memphis, Tenn.

LITTLE MAY JANETTE was a "war baby" born while her father was in the service. Mrs. Martin, finding it necessary to return to her work, started her baby on Borden's Eagle Brand Milk. As May Janette's five little cousins were brought up on Eagle Brand, naturally Mrs. Martin had great confidence in it. And with good reason. For May Janette—now three-and-a-half years old—"is strong, sturdy and full of life and energy" her mother says.

Don't experiment with your baby's food. Eagle Brand has been the standard infant food for many years. Countless mothers, like Mrs. Martin, have found that it made their babies strong and well. Thousands of physicians have recommended it for babies who were underweight and undernourished. For Eagle Brand is very easily digested.

Actually Borden's Eagle Brand Milk contains nothing but pure milk and pure sugar. It is the natural food if mother's milk is not available. It is always pure and uniform. You can get it anywhere.

Rich in Food and Health Values

The value of grapefruit and oranges, in calories or fuel units of food, has been amply demonstrated by medical and scientific research.

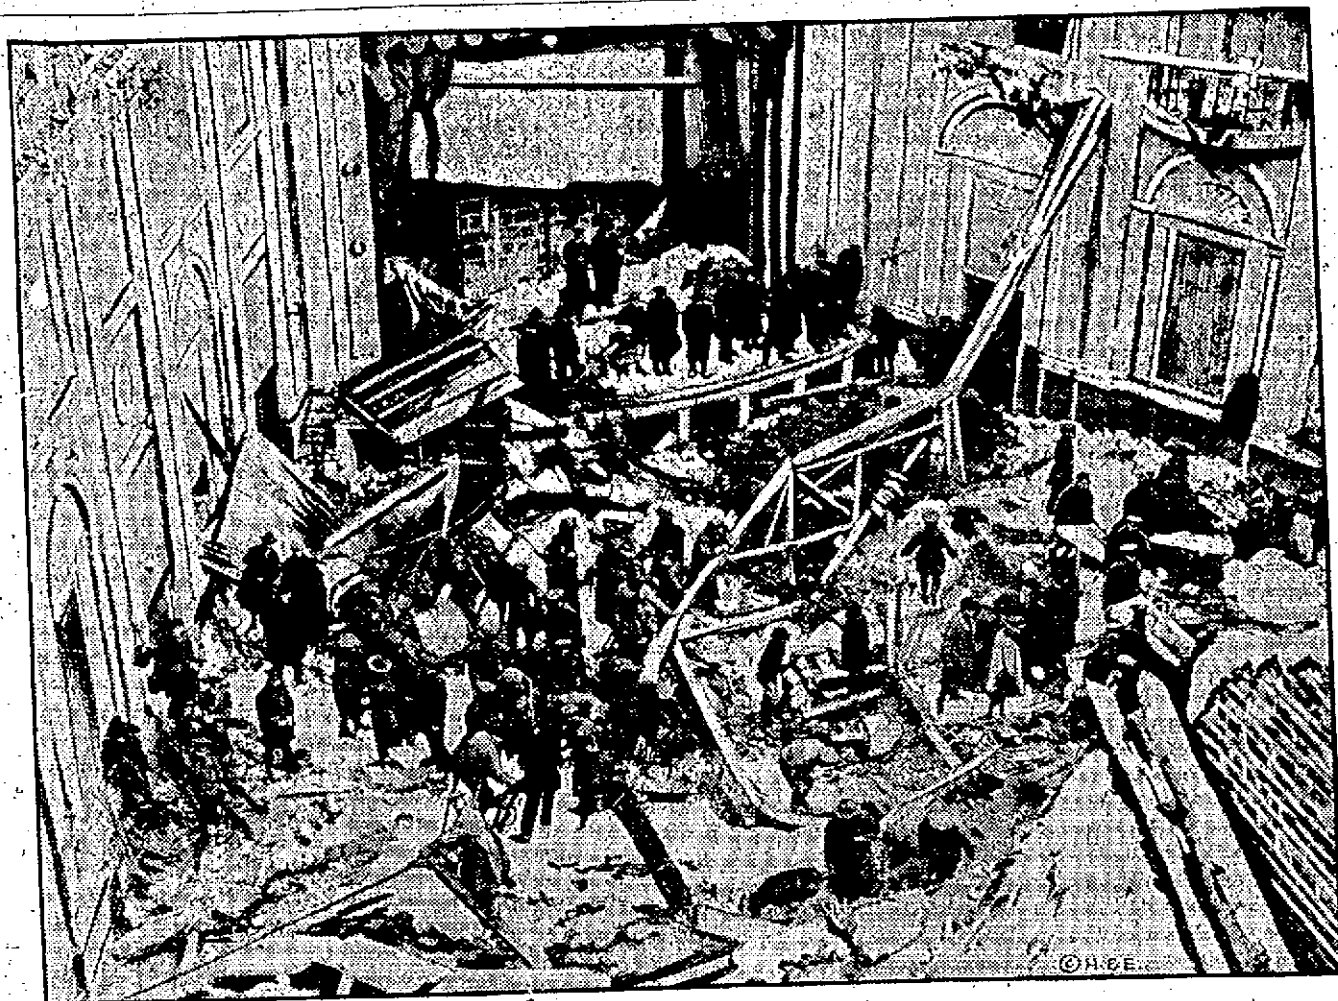

Now science has found these fruits equally rich in vitamins, the food elements essential to the perpetuation of life; vitamins making other food constituents available to the system.

It is the juice of grapefruit and oranges that contains the calories and the vitamins. Sealdsweet Florida fruits are heavy with juice, indicated by weight, hence their usefulness as food and for maintaining health.

Pictures of Knickerbocker Movie Theatre Disaster at Washington

COMPREHENSIVE PICTURE STORY OF THE DISASTER

This photograph was made just after daylight following the collapse of the Knickerbocker Theatre, Washington, D. C., in which scores lost their lives and many were injured. Soldiers are shown clearing away the wreckage, with the stage in the background. Soldiers on the right are carrying out the dead on stretchers. In the immediate foreground is a portion of the snow-laden roof which crashed without warning upon the audience. The roof gave way under the heaviest snowstorm the capital has experienced in years.

THE WRECKED INTERIOR

This close-up view of the Knickerbocker Theatre, Washington, D. C., gives a definite idea of the proportions of the wreckage. Soldiers, firemen and civilians are probing in the ruins to locate the dead and the injured. In the center group are two stretcher-bearers carrying a victim to one of the many ambulances awaiting outside.

DECISION GREAT VICTORY FOR "DRYS"

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Commenting last night on the supreme court decision handed down yesterday regarding the withdrawal of liquor from bonded warehouses for private use, Wayne E. Wheeler, counsel for the Anti-Saloon League, said: "The decision of the supreme court

BUSINESS RUSHING AT ARMY SOUP KITCHEN

The Salvation Army soup kitchen is doing a great deal of worthy work since its inception about a week ago. About 200 people are being fed daily through this medium. Hot soup is being dished out each day to a number of people who call at the headquarters in Appleton street. Some drink the soup on the premises, others take it home, while still others, who are unable to call or send for it, have it brought to their homes in the Army's auto.

Although the fact is almost unbelievable, there are many people who have not clothing warm enough to come to the kitchen for the soup. For these people the army makes an appeal through Adjutant Mark Arnold for old

"Dry Agent" Most Popular Job in City

RUTLAND, Vt., Jan. 31.—The most popular job in this city is that of federal prohibition enforcement officer. When it became known that the Vermont enforcement staff was to be increased by three, there was a rush on the office of State Prohibition Director Collins M. Graves. Applications came in by the score, until the director began to believe the entire population desired to join his staff. Applicants came in person, or heralded their qualifications by mail, telephone and telegraph. Everyone from aviator to clerk applied. In keeping with the policy of concealing the identity of the "dry agent" as long as possible, no announcement has been made as to who got the job.

STEER CLEAR OF "OPEN SHOP"

Movement Undermining Confidence of Labor in Employers, Say N. J. Men

Similar Campaigns in Past Have Resulted in Redoubled Growth of Unionism

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 31.—Some of New Jersey's biggest business men, members of a committee of industrial relations of the New Jersey state chamber of commerce, in a report made public today, cautioned all employers to avoid "anti-union coercion," to steer clear of the various "open shop" movements, and to co-operate with the workers in every possible way.

The report said the "open shop" movement was "undermining the confidence of labor in employers and ruining the foundation for co-operation between them."

"Similar campaigns in former periods of depression," the report continued, "only resulted in redoubled growth of unionism and the adoption by it of more extreme measures in the periods of prosperity which followed and there is no reason to believe that the result of this campaign will be different. Campaigns of this nature are leading to suppression by employers and are playing into the hands of revolutionary elements."

"The road of anti-union coercion appears to us to be dangerous. It ought by all means to be avoided."

KILLS WILD BOBCAT WITH BARE HANDS

LUDLOW, Vt., Jan. 31.—John Sheehan of this town yesterday earned the distinction of being the first man in the district to kill a wild bobcat with his bare hands.

Sheehan, with Arthur Cannon, also of Ludlow, was climbing a mountain trail near here when a bobcat disrupted the right of way. As it sprang at the men Sheehan clapped his throat. His hands were badly lacerated by the cat's claws, but he held on until it was dead.

Local hunters say this is the first instance in their experience of a bobcat attacking a man.

Average length of life in 1855 was 31 years shorter than that in 1919.

RHEUMATIC POISONS MUST BE DRIVEN FROM THE SYSTEM

Mrs. Breen Says She Owe Her Life to the Treatment She Describes

Science has discovered that by making the blood rich in oxygen the poisons of rheumatism are driven out of the system. The way to increase the oxygen in the blood is to increase the compounds that carry the oxygen and this can be done with certainty by proper treatment.

Mrs. Margaret Breen, who lives at No. 115 Beacon street, Cambridge, Mass., speaks from experience when she says that rheumatic poisons can be driven from the system for she was once a sufferer from this disease and owes her present good health to the treatment that she recommends to others.

She says:

"I had rheumatism for over a year and suffered intensely in my shoulders and in my limbs. I also had headaches that were so severe that my eyesight seemed affected. I was very weak, could hardly walk at times and was so nervous that my nights were almost sleepless. I tried treatments but did not get any better until I took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I do not believe I would be living today if it were not for them. Certainly they are entirely responsible for the present good condition of my health. I gave them a good trial and my nerves grew stronger, the pain in my shoulders and limbs left and my general health improved wonderfully. I am glad to recommend these pills to others for I know that they are all that is claimed for them."

Get a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at your druggist's or write to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., enclosing 50 cents and a box will be sent you, postpaid. A little book, "Building Up the Blood," which explains the treatment, will be sent free on request.—Adv.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made

Here's an easy way to save $2, and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep homes without it. It's simple and cheap, and the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, breaks the membrane, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex," with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

MASS FOR LATE POPE BENEDICT

Boston Archdiocese of Roman Catholic Church Pays Formal Tribute

Bishop Da Silva and Very Rev. L. F. Tighe, O. M. I., Assist at Cathedral Service

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—The Boston archdiocese of the Roman Catholic church today paid formal tribute to the memory of the late Pope Benedict XV. at a high mass of requiem sung at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross. Monsignor John B. Peterson, pro-vicar in the absence of Cardinal O'Connell, who is on his way to Rome, officiated.

Assisting Mgr. Peterson were Very Rev. Lawrence Tighe, D.M.I., of Lowell, provincial of the Oblate order, as deacon, and Rev. John J. Ryan of Cambridge, as sub-deacon. The five absolutions were pronounced by Mgr. Peterson, Bishop Da Silva of Lowell, and Monsignor George J. Patterson of South Boston; M. T. McManus of Brookline and Arthur J. Teeling of Lynn. Very Rev. John J. Geoghan, S.J., rector of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, preached the eulogy. The musical accompaniment to the service was provided by a priest's choir, under direction of Rev. M. J. Scanlon.

Fr. Geoghan paid tribute to the efforts of the late pope to bring peace out of the chaos of the world war.

"He drew plans for peace that formed the basis for the deliberations of statesmen," said Fr. Geoghan. "His suggestions of disarmament, his call for living appeal across the seas to the president of our own great nation, hoping that from our strength and our sanity, might come a mighty voice to influence the leaders of Europe. For Benedict loved us and trusted us. He felt that we were outside the whirlpool of war, that we had preserved the throne and ruled the peoples of Europe, and that we alone among the nations could see with unbiased eye, how justice and mercy must take their places in the peaceful reconstruction of the world."

CHINA AND JAPAN IN AGREEMENT

Accept Harding's Shantung
Offer—Powers Agree on Pacific Fortifications Pact

Plenary Session to be Held Tomorrow—Last of Decisions Near

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(By A. P.)—Japan and China, virtually settled their long-standing feud over Shantung yesterday while the plenipotentiaries of the five great naval powers were coming into final agreement on the treaty by which they are to limit their sea power in capital ships.

The mediatory proposal supported by President Harding was the final basis on which the Japanese and Chinese agreed in principle after a seven-hour session of the Shantung negotiations and although some details of phraseology remain to be worked out, a final settlement is expected by night. The naval treaty, last finally was completed at a meeting of the naval committee of fifteen and a plenary session of the arms conference was called for Wednesday to announce the covenant to the world. The fortifications article, the last remaining problem, was settled by an agreement under which the fortifications "status quo" in the Pacific is to include the American Alaskan islands as well as the Bonin Islands group of Japan.

Japanese Experts Retained

Today the naval committee of the whole is to give its formal approval of the treaty and the far eastern committee also is to meet to begin a clean-up of the few Chinese questions remaining undecided. With Shantung out of the way, these collateral issues are expected to take but few days.

In their discussions yesterday, which lasted from mid-afternoon until late at night, the Japanese and Chinese centered their attention upon the key problem of the Tientsin-Tsinanfu railroad, with which the "good offices" of President Harding, Secretary Hughes and Arthur J. Balfour had concerned themselves.

The proposal given approval provided in substance that China pay for the railroad in 15-year treasury notes, with a five-year option, and that Japanese experts be retained during the payment period in some departments of road administration, but under a Chinese superior official.

Hope to Adjourn This Week

The Japanese-Chinese conversations will be resumed today and it is the hope of some of the delegates that the agreement will be in such definite form that it can be announced on the following day when the conference assembles for its first public session since Dec. 10.

It is the expectation of conference officials that the plenary session called for Wednesday morning will be followed by another on the afternoon of the same day in order to bring up to date the formal ratification of various decisions reached in the armament and eastern committees. The Root submarine declaration still await the official sanction of the conference proper.

With the naval treaty and Shantung definitely out of the way, only a very few collateral issues will stand in the way of a final adjournment of the conference. Some of the delegates believe they may be on their way home by the end of the week.

Among the subjects yet to go through both the committee and conference stages of agreement are the proposal to prohibit importation of arms into China, a settlement regarding the Chinese Eastern railway, a declaration regarding leased territories in China, the Chinese request for abrogation of the "twenty-one demands" treaties and a general resolution relating to land armament. In regard to most of these virtual decisions already have been reached in informal exchanges.

Franco-Japanese Alliance

It was revealed yesterday that the French had withdrawn their reservation in regard to surrender of their leased territory in China and that as a consequence an agreement on that subject was imminent. The French now are said to be willing to make exceptions to the Japanese operation of Liaotung Peninsula and the British retention of Kowloon.

Obstacles which have delayed action on the arms importation ban for China are also understood to have been removed. The "21 demands" are not expected to occupy more than one or two committee sittings. The resolution regarding land armament, phrased in the most general terms, likewise holds little promise of long debate.

In their consideration of the far Eastern treaty to embody all the decisions regarding China, the arms delegates are making no present plans for an affirmative declaration regarding the Franco-Japanese Alliance. In some quarters it had been suggested that a clause abrogating the alliance be put into the far Eastern convention, but some American delegates at least are said to believe that it might be wholly unnecessary in view of the agreements to which France and Japan have pledged themselves here.

It is understood also that a definite decision has been reached to put the Root submarine resolution into a separate treaty.

Text of Fortifications Treaty

The text of the fortifications agreement follows:

"The United States of America, the British Empire and Japan agree that the status quo at the time of the signing of the present treaty, with regard to fortifications and naval bases, shall be maintained in their respective territories and possessions specified hereunder:

"1. The insular possessions which the United States now holds or may hereafter acquire in the Pacific ocean, except (A) those adjacent to the coast of the United States, Alaska and the Panama Canal Zone, not including the Alaskan Islands, and (B) the Hawaiian Islands.

Kearns is reported to have said that Dempsey hasn't drawn the color line, that he has no fear of meeting him, but that both he and Dempsey believe it is a risky business proposition. Kearns says he doesn't believe the public would support the match.

ARREST OF LEADERS CAUSES BITTERNESS

RANGOON, Jan. 30.—The arrest of five Burma nationalist leaders here just before the arrival of the Prince of Wales and their removal to northern Burma for internment caused considerable excitement and intense bitterness among the Burmese nationalists.

Among those arrested were U. Chit Hlaing, president of the general council of Burmese associations and U. Ba Hlaing, editor of New Burma, one of the leading nationalist newspapers published in Rangoon.

In setting forth the reasons for their internment, Lieutenant Governor Sir R. H. Craib, declared in an address before the Burma legislative council, that there was in Burma a small political clique animated by race hatred and by a desire to subvert the authority of the government and take the reins of power into their own hands. These men, he said, were using every means, fair and foul, to make the prince's visit a failure.

Summing up the political situation in Burma, he declared that this clique had first, a year ago, sought the same constitutional reforms that had been given to the provinces of India but that when they saw that this was likely to be granted, they had made it clear that what they really wanted, or professed to want, was home rule outside the British empire.

Having captured the political machine, he asserted, these men were endeavoring to tyrannize over the people of Burma by use of the boycott.

"They are careful to pay a lip-worship on every possible occasion to the so-called doctrine of non-violence," the lieutenant-governor said. "They are far too solicitous of their own safety to indulge in any violence but they care nothing that their preaching and intimidation must inevitably lead to the use of violence by their dupes."

THOMAS A. DALY
Asst. Designer and Salesman

In six hours yesterday, my opening day, thirty-two hundred people visited this new salesroom.

My announcement for this opening stated that orders were to be taken only on request. My salesmen were to act as hosts and escorts—rather than as order seekers.

This request was obeyed as much as the eighteenth amendment on prohibition at present.

In those six hours I booked more orders than my wildest hopes might expect—even at Easter time, the busiest season of the year.

I don't want to burden you with a whole lot of reading matter, but I do want to tell you this: My store and merchandise is new in all respects, continuing to maintain its former policy of thirteen years in Lowell of selling only dependable and guaranteed merchandise of standard quality with prices 30 per cent. lower than six months ago, and less overhead expense.

I have spared neither effort nor expense to make this store the most up-to-date TAILORING SHOP in New England, and feel confident that I have succeeded.

Very Truly Yours,

LAKE OF REAL LEADERSHIP

For some months past it has been dawning upon the country, that the republican administration at Washington is rapidly willing down an onerous record of glaring incapacity. The failure to give the industries of the country an onward boost is one of the worst charges to be laid at the door of the Harding regime, because upon that hangs the unemployment, and one of the main causes of the business depression.

The party leaders fooled long enough with the tariff to demonstrate their inability to determine what the country wants or to decide what system of tariff impacts should be adopted. The Fordney bill, a makeshift measure, was adopted as a temporary expedient to fill the gap until the leaders should have completed the general bill, but on this there was such delay that it has been voted to extend the life of the Fordney act still further. This leaves the manufacturers of the country in a state of uncertainty, although in addition they had to contend with the incubus of falling prices.

But the haggling and temporizing on the tariff were in every way characteristic of what the party did in the revision of the taxation system. The bill passed by congress is a bitter disappointment and must be revised before the industries of the country can resume their normal activity with any confidence of success.

The war taxes with few exceptions remain so that there is very little inducement for capital to embark in industrial enterprises and hence here lies the second great handicap to business revival.

President Harding, realizing the situation has called upon the government departments to start relief work for the benefit of the unemployed; but this cannot compensate for the industrial stagnation that prevails throughout the country as a result of republican failure at Washington.

The service men have been making strong appeals for the bonus, and the matter is being put up to the president in such a way that he feels constrained in view of the party failures, to make some effort to keep faith with the soldiers. Therefore, a bonus bill is to be passed. The party will vote money even if it cannot help the country back to prosperity; and so, mainly for political reasons the bonus is to be voted despite all warnings as to the consequences.

What is lacking at Washington is wise and positive leadership. President Harding is continually wobbling and he seems to have no positive ideas on anything. That is why the party has accomplished so very little since it was installed in power.

In 1921 there were certain talks of the war remaining that meant large expenditures. Many of these are to be dropped this year and next, and as a result the president points to the difference as proof of economy, whereas it is simply a tapering off from the expenditures of war to those of actual peace. Surely the republican party does not deserve credit for dropping the activities of war which were continued through 1921 but now to be eliminated. Thus the ordinary expenses of 1922 are $417,701,231 less than in 1921 and $1,561,241,231 less than the ordinary expenditures for 1921. If the war activities are eliminated, the reduction in the estimates for 1922 are but 2 per cent less than in 1921, which is not much to boast over.

As a result of allowing expenditures to exceed the estimates, congress will have to pass several deficiency bills, rather a poor argument in support of the president's claim of a great record for economy.

At the present time, therefore, the republican leaders at Washington are beginning to realize the extent of their failure and to try to gloss it over in a way that will deceive the public as to the actual facts. They are also beginning to trim their sails for the threatening political weather predicted next fall. It is for this reason mainly they are going to pass some sort of bonus bill to placate the service men.

Much is being made of the arms conference; but while the results may be beneficial, it is very evident that the United States has to do most of the reduction of naval forces and most of the backing down on the Shantung and other questions on which Japan has stood firm and forced the United States to yield.

Out of this middle in which the republicans hold the government, there is no hope of extricating the country until a goodly number of republicans are retired next fall. That relief is far in the distance. It is true, but until it comes, the administration will follow the same dangerous policy of letting things drift, drift, drift!

THE WASHINGTON DISASTER

The collapse of the roof of a big picture theatre in the fashionable part of Washington, causing a loss of 55 lives and serious injury of 132 persons, has horrified the entire country. Apparently, the structure was built to carry only its own weight. The weight of about three feet of snow upon the roof caused the disaster. The arched roof of steel and concrete buckled and fell in upon the audience, carrying the galleries with it into the auditorium.

There is here a serious responsibility which should be located and placed precisely where it belongs. It may revert to the contractors or to the building inspectors.

The government of the District of Columbia is a very shifty organization. It is conducted by a joint committee of congress with administrative commissioners appointed by the president. These, like the committees in charge, are frequently changing. Usually the men in charge are total strangers to Washington, men who may come from California, Nebraska or parts of the country in which they can have little or nothing in common with Washington. It is not surprising, therefore, that things occasionally go amiss in Washington and that even the inspection of buildings may be of a very perfunctory kind.

It is now the duty of the government to place the responsibility where it belongs. It is a question whether on flat-roofed buildings in such a heavy fall of snow, the owners or lessees should be compelled by law to clear the snow from the roof. We doubt whether there is an ordinance to that effect in any city; but it would not be amiss as applied to flat-roofed theatres, churches or public buildings where large numbers of people congregate.

It may be, that builders in latitudes as far south as Washington make but slight allowance for the weight of snow on flat roofs. Indeed it is stated that the allowance made there is but fifteen pounds to the square foot, whereas in our latitude, usually one hundred pounds to the square foot is the minimum. On most flat-roofed buildings, the allowance is nearly 150 pounds which should be sufficient to bear the strain of the heaviest snow storm we are likely to get at any time.

But the collapse of the Washington theatre may have been due to some defect in workmanship, such, for example, as poor riveting. Only a few days ago we read in the papers of the metal ceiling of a school room falling because the nails by which it was attached were too short. This was a case in which defective workmanship escaped the detection of the inspectors, and so it may have been in the Washington theatre; but the real cause may never be known.

FARMERS COMPLAIN

Farmers in the corn belt last year received less than five cents an hour for their labor and the labor of their wives and children, claims a speaker at the national agricultural conference.

He says farmers are asking "why they have to pay 100 bushels of corn for a wagon they used to buy for 150 bushels?"

"Why must they pay 350 bushels of corn for a gangplow which formerly cost 125 bushels?"

"Or 150 bushels for a suit of clothes which formerly cost 50 bushels, or 33 bushels for shoes that formerly cost nine bushels?"

The dollar lies, as a common measure of values. What you can buy with your money, not how much money you get, is what really counts. The short cut to economic truth is to think in terms of commodities instead of fluctuating dollars.

The farmer finds that he is not getting a square deal. Hence the agricultural "bloc."

"SERVICE ABOVE DOLLARS"

Placing "service above dollars" is the ideal given to a body of insurance men by a Boston professor. There is no doubt that some of the insurance companies are doing splendid work for the service of humanity. The company that employs well trained nurses to visit the homes of the policy holders in case of sickness and that conducts a "Life Extension" department for its insured, may have mercenary motives, but nevertheless, this service has a value to those who receive it far above what is paid for it in the trifling weekly or monthly premiums.

FEMINE TROUSERS

Feminine trousers were worn by 150 women at a formal dance staged by the Boston chamber of commerce at North Conway, N. H.

"Knicker" worn by women, have become common in the east, especially for outdoor sports. This is believed to be the first time they have passed approval in the ballroom.

Will women eventually discard dresses and wear trousers? Don't make any bets. Fashions have had stranger changes. Men used to wear long dresses, knee skirts, powdered wigs, lace cuffs and shoes two feet long.

MOVIES OF THE POLE

He will fly around the top of the world, taking moving pictures from his two airplanes.

A wireless telephone will keep him in touch with his family back home if it works all right.

Polar exploration used to be the pinnacle of romance. Soon mechanical inventions will eliminate the romance and deprive the pole of its charms; but nevertheless the number of people who will visit the poles will never be very great.

Get ready to combat the "flu" if it comes, by keeping in good health. The "flu" is treacherous in its attacks and it sometimes takes rugged persons unaware and makes inroads upon their health reserves before any effort is made to combat its progress.

Uncle Sam is already being dubbed as a Shylock because he has not signified his intention of cancelling the war loans to the European nations. The nation cannot pay now, but Uncle Sam is willing to wait. If that is a Shylockian policy, let the propagandists make the most of it.

A large poster in the window of one of the unoccupied stores on Water street, Hallowell, Me., attracted some attention. It read: "This store was remodeled by a grocer. Before it was completed the grocer squeaked. It is now to let."

Fighting the Enemy

A novelist was arguing with a military man. "I believe, sir," said the soldier, "in fighting an enemy with his own weapons. That's what I advocate, sir."

"Tell me," said the novelist, "how long does it take you to elist a 'wasp'?"

Thought for Today

The true way to begin life is not to look off upon it to see what it offers, but to take a good look at self, find out what you are, how you are made up, your capacities and lacks, and then determine to get the most out of yourself possible.—Theodore T. Munger.

A Word a Day

Today's word is militant. It's pronounced—militant—with accent on the first syllable. It means fighting, combating, engaged in, or combative. It comes from—Latin, "militare," to make war. Comparison words—militate, militancy. It's used like this—"The aim of the arms conference at Washington is to make nations less militant (that is, less prone to make war)."

Getting the Soundings

A naval recruit was heaving the lead. "What water have you got?" asked the officer of the watch. There was no reply. "Come out of that!" yelled the officer. "I'll show you how to heave the lead." But just as he got the lead on the swing he fell overboard. At that moment the captain appeared. "What the soundings?" he asked. "I dunno," said the recruit; "the officer has just gone overboard to see, and he hasn't come up yet!"

Frogs Couldn't Swim

William Allen White, the Kansas editor, was talking about droughts. "One summer during a terrible drought," he said, "a tourist was passing through Arizona. He put up one night in a town so dried up that even the trees had yellowed and withered. 'Does it ever rain here?' the tourist said to the landlord of the hot, dusty hotel. 'Rain?' said the landlord. 'Why, stranger, there's five-year-old bullfrogs in this here town, but they never learned to swim yet!'"

Didn't Serve 'Em

Scenes were very fastidious, but he was also a very hungry man, when at 1 o'clock one day he found himself in an unknown town in which only one rather cheap-looking restaurant was to be found. The call of the inner man was not to be denied, so he pushed open the swinging doors and entered. It was a rough, ill-smelling place, but he thought he could manage to get down a cup of coffee and something to eat. The waitress brought the coffee in a thick, heavy cup. "Where's the saucer?" inquired our fastidious friend. "We don't give no saucers here," replied the girl. "If we did, some ill-bred ignoramus would come blowin' in and drink out of his saucer, and we'd lose a lot of our most swaggy trade!"

A Paternal Lullaby

Sleep, now, my little one,
Sleep now my pretty one,
Now is the time for your rest,
Lest the night be too long,
Now don't nod to cry!
Papa is doing his best.
Now close your tired eyes,
Give us a good surprise,
Be good for once!
Some singing could be worse!
Don't you believe the nurse,
She is a dunce!

MAN ABOUT TOWN

There is much talk in the air at the present time in regard to changes in the school system and improvements aiming at greater thoroughness in the work of our schools. It seems that a great deal of time is taken up with special branches, including physical training and exercises some of which for the more active boys, is merely a waste of time. It is noticeable that many of the youngsters have the "Movie" craze and that regardless of how they stand in school, they are sure to find time to attend the picture theatres and they can tell all about the films presented at each and every theatre in Lowell. Even during school hours, many of them are counting over what they saw at some of the theatres on the previous night. The teachers find their work much more difficult since the picture theatre came to be so popular, than ever before. It is more difficult to get the pupils to settle down to real study; it is harder to get them to tackle any work that requires real effort and perseverance. Memory lessons are almost a thing of the past and home study is usually not shown or neglected. This may explain at least in some degree, why it is, that so many graduates of the grammar schools and even of the high school finish their course without attaining the proficiency that is expected and that was customary in years gone by. It seems to be the common opinion at the present time that it is useless to expect thoroughness in any branch of study owing to the inattention of the pupils and the manner in which their time is broken up among so many different specializations.

"Trees are patient creatures"

A forester of the Maine Agricultural college, "The only rapid thing you can do to a tree is to butcher it. Even decay works slowly in trees. If the decision lies between hasty, drastic action now, and waiting a year or even two years until a reputable tree man can be employed, there is no question that to wait is the wiser course." This may help some people who are puzzled to know what to do for the broken trees. If you can't do the work now, it is better to wait than to destroy the tree.

MATRIMONIAL

St. Francis' church in North Adams was the scene of a pretty wedding January 28, when Miss Anna Elizabeth Fay, daughter of Mr. Hugh Fay, and a popular young woman of that city, and Mr. Clarence John O'Keefe, a well known young man of this city, were united in the bonds of matrimony, the ceremony being performed at a nuptial mass celebrated at 7 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. Dr. H. P. Humphrey. The bride was charmingly attired in a gown of navy blue not with grey and gold trimmings; she wore a picture hat to match and carried a bouquet of red roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Rose Fay, who wore a gown of Harding blue crepe not with Coolidge red trimmings, and hat to match and carried red roses. The bride's maid was Miss Leonard V. O'Keefe of this city, a brother of the groom. The bride's gift to the bride-maid was a cameo pendant, while the groom's favor to the best man was a pair of gold cuff links. At the close of the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to immediate relatives and friends of the happy couple at the home of the bride's father, 35 East Main street, which was attractively decorated with potted plants, greenery and cut flowers. Present at the festivities were relatives and friends from Lowell, Pittsburgh, Boston and Troy. After an extended honeymoon trip the couple will make their home in this city.

The place for holding the affair has been indefinitely decided upon—Lincoln hall. The sub-committee on speakers, entertainment, menu and printing made reports of progress and the affair promises to be a red letter event.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns ray

Faded Hair Dark and Glossy

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.—Adv.

Cataract of Stomach Is Entirely Ended and He Eats Things He Hadn't Dared Touch for Years, Declares G. H. Hill

Was Almost Past Going When He Got Tanlac—Statement Remarkable

"Tanalac put me back on the job feeling fine and made me gain thirty pounds in weight," said G. H. Hill, 120 Elliot st., Braintree, last night. "Cataract of the stomach had pulled me down until I was almost past going. I was eating barely enough to keep body and soul together but even as careful as I was about my diet I suffered agonies from indigestion. 'Tanalac' toned up my stomach and made it sound as a dollar. I eat onions, pork and other things I hadn't dared touch before and I am sleeping, eating and working as well as I ever did in my life. There is no reason why everybody couldn't be well and strong when they can so easily get a medicine like 'Tanalac'."

"Tanalac Vegetable Pills are an essential and vitally important part of the Tanlac treatment. You cannot hope to get the most satisfactory results from Tanlac without first establishing a free and regular movement of the bowels. Tanlac Vegetable Pills are absolutely free from calomel and are sold on a positive guarantee to give satisfaction."

WOMAN ROUTS MAD DOG WITH BROOM

MANCHESTER, N. H., Jan. 31.—A black, curly haired dog, fringing at the mouth, jumped upon a young Mrs. Cates, five years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Cates of River road, yesterday, inflicting a serious wound by biting the child in the lower lip and chin. The mother heard the child scream and attacked the dog with a broom. The beast at first stood his ground, seizing the broom in his teeth, but when Mrs. Cates reversed her weapon and struck him with the handle he beat a retreat. The owner of the dog is unknown.

TALCUM POWDER KILLS BABY

YONKERS, N. Y., Jan. 31.—Suffocation, the result of inhaling a quantity of talcum powder, yesterday caused the death of Miriam Hendley, eight months' old daughter of Charles J. Hendley, a teacher in the George Washington high school in Manhattan.

Mrs. Hendley was powdering the baby after her bath when the little one seized the box of powder and upset the contents into her mouth. She choked and Mrs. Hendley called in Dr. Louis Z. Waldron. The infant grew steadily worse and it was found that the powder had entered her lungs, clogging them and causing an infection.

DIDN'T LIKE LOOK OF THE $20 BILL

Several unsuccessful attempts to pass what is believed to be a spurious $20 bill were made in the up-town district this morning, but in each instance the merchants approached were a little skeptical and refused to take a chance with the bill that was offered in payment for small purchases.

It seems that a neatly dressed young man walked into the tobacco store of John Nolani, at the corner of Cabot and Merrimack streets shortly before 10 o'clock and asked the proprietor to change a $20 bill. While the conversation was going on another young man stood watch at the door. Mr. Nolani did not even bother looking into his cash register and informed his visitor that he had no change.

The young man then crossed the street and went into the fruit and confectionery store of Charles James on the other corner, while the other party remained at the door. He purchased a package of cigarets and handed a $20 bill to the merchant. The latter was about to make the change, when he noticed that the word "Twenty" in letters was not on the face of the bill and becoming suspicious, he returned the bill to its owner, saying he could not change it. The young man then took out a handful of change and paid for the cigarets. Two or three other stores in Merrimack street were also visited, and

Berton Braley's Daily Poem

Up To Standard

If he wears out his clothes at a terrible rate,
If he always is hungry and seldom is clean,
If his pockets are loaded with nondescript freight
And none of his lessons remain in his brain;
If his ways seem exclusively meant to annoy,
Why then you are raising a Regular Boy.

If he often comes home with incriminated nose,
An eye that is blackened and clothing a mess,
If there's tumult and shouting wherever he goes,
If he plagues little girls to their utter distress,
If when summoned to bathe he's exceedingly coy,
Why then you are raising a Regular Boy.

If he fidgets in church and he wriggles in school,
If he tracks up the kitchen with mud from the street,
If he doesn't take kindly to order and rule,
If he thinks it's a sissified thing to be neat,
If getting in trouble seems chiefly his joy,
Why then you are raising a Regular Boy!

If he looks at the world as a place of romance,
Where many adventures are just down the road,
If his body is sturdy and clear in his glance,
If he's loving and loyal and true to his code,
If he's pure pup and grit without any alloy,
You're raising—God bless him—a Regular Boy!

(Copyright, 1922, The Lowell Sun)

Finally the young men shifted their activities to Moody street, where they again attempted to pass the bill, but without any success. The suspected ones are described as about 30 years of age, smooth face, about five feet six or seven inches in height and weighing about 150 pounds. They were neatly dressed, one of them wearing a grey overcoat. It is believed that they will try their luck in other districts.

PAINS ACROSS
SMALL OF BACKHusband Helped in Housework—
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable
Compound Made Her Strong

Poster, Oregon.—"I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for pains across the small of my back. They bothered me so badly that I could do my work only with the help of my husband. One day he saw the 'ad.' in our paper telling what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is doing for women, so I began to take it. It has helped me wonderfully. I am feeling fine, do all my housework and washing for seven in the family. I have been irregular too, and now am all right. I am telling my friends what it has done for me and am sure it will do good for others. You can use this letter as a testimonial. I will stand up for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound any time."—Mrs. Wm. J. Hunkle, Foster, Oregon.

Doing the housework for a family of seven is some task. If you, as a housewife, are troubled with backache, irregularities, are easily tired out and irritable, or have other disagreeable ailments caused by some weakness, give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. Let it help you.

She could eat anything
—without indigestion or sleeplessness

For a time she had been troubled with gas after her evening meal. The distress was most painful after eating potatoes or other starchy foods, of which she was very fond.

Then she started taking two cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast every night between her evening meal and bedtime. She poured about a half cup of boiling hot water over the yeast cakes, stirred them thoroughly, added a little cold water and drank.

She found she could eat anything and sleep splendidly afterward.

Thousands of men and women are finding that Fleischmann's Yeast corrects stomach and intestinal troubles. It promotes the flow of bile and pancreatic juice. Appetite is always kept normal and you are protected against indigestion.

Add 2 to 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast to your daily diet. You will find that your whole digestive system is greatly benefited. Be sure it's Fleischmann's Yeast—the familiar tin-foil package with the yellow label. Place a standing order with your grocer for Fleischmann's Yeast.

Japan Good Beating

If Wong Yick, who conducts the Wah Lee laundry emporium at 27 Moody street, had to pay revenue taxes on all the daily and weekly newspapers he received from Shanghai, Canton, San Francisco and Portland, New York, he wouldn't be able to go over to that national bank every Monday morning and deposit any profits on his business.

The reason for Wong Yick's extraordinary interest in China and American newspapers is his keen interest in China's position in world affairs and China's humiliating experiences of the past, which he says will continue to be "like the under dog" until Washington turns about face and really shows that it is China's friend.

Wong Yick is one of the best informed Chinamen in the city of Lowell, and that goes for all oriental members of the "New Republican" party also living in this city. He hasn't had any education in American schools, but went to school in Canton, China, for about ten years. He hasn't relied on American school books to secure information about his beloved land across the western sea. He is not a "crank" Chinaman with a lot of ideas to grind, and if you called him a socialist, he might hurry over to that flat from Yick and say something to you.

That Wong Yick is a sincere believer in China and her disturbingly perilous position in far eastern national affairs, is easy to prove. If you want to talk to a Chinaman about his home land and its struggles, with tears rolling down his cheeks as he explains his place on the pawnshop counters of the great powers, drop in and get Wong to talk about the peace conference or President Wilson's 14 points or the checker game played by the five great powers who kow-towed to Japan, giving that country about everything she asked for at the council table.

Wong can explain it better than some editorial writers. And lying on his desk at the Moody street laundry, are a dozen or more copies of Chinese newspapers of the "New Republican" brand, that appear to bear out Wong's claim that China is just as far down under the feet of the "Big Five" as it was before the peace conference. If not further.

Wong is not sentimental. He is 40 years old, finely educated in his own language and Chinese affairs, and can also talk fair English. He was also a talk fair English. He was also a talk fair English.

When he came to America several years ago, Wong brought his two sons with him, but not his wife, who is still living in Canton on a farm that grows rice and vegetables. One boy is now 22, having been educated in a Boston public school and obtaining employment in a Boston business house. He is an upstanding young man, with a fine business record thus far, and his father delights to hear from him every week and frequently goes to the club to spend a day or two with him.

A younger boy, now 16, came to Lowell with the laundryman, and was at once placed in the Gray school. He remained there three years, but his mother missed him so that Wong provided transportation back to Canton, where the boy now lives.

Before coming to Lowell, Wong ran laundries in Plymouth within a stone's throw of Plymouth Rock and the Boston and Fall River. Lowell suits him better financially.

The "New Republican" Chinese students at the Lowell Textile school and other institutions, make it a point to call at Wong's regularly and discuss Chinese affairs. They all agree with Wong, he says, that the fatherland got a pretty raw deal from the great powers in the "big slice" party in Washington. He says most of his countrymen like America, or rather the United States, and had implicit faith in President Wilson at the start, but Wong says Wilson, too, gave in finally to the other nations playing on the checkbook of politics, and President Harding's administration has followed Japan rather than China, obstructing that nation's grasping maneuvers to remain in control of a large part of Chinese national territory.

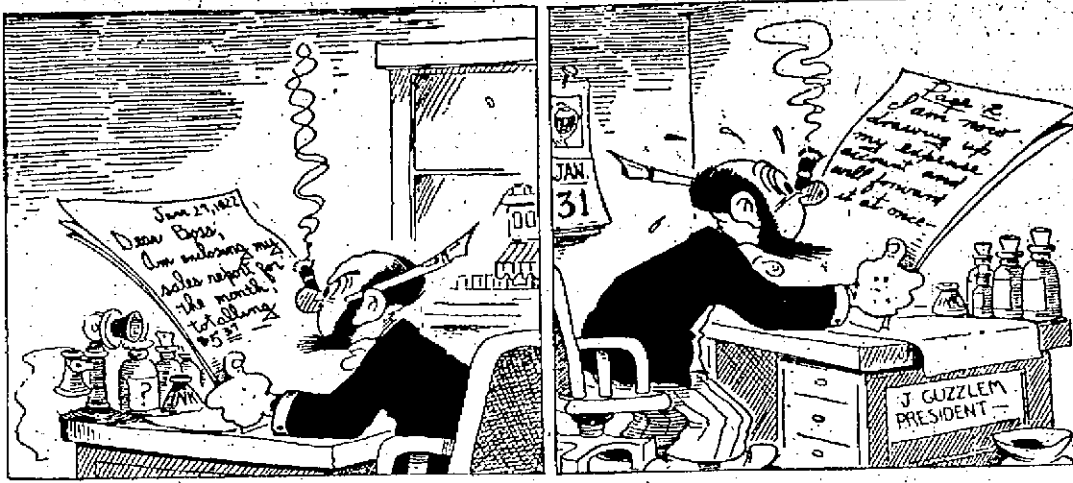

Wong Yick believes that Japan, until she is driven out, has no intention of ever giving up any part of the lands in China that she has long coveted and still holds by right of conquest. But Wong goes a little farther, when the tears begin to come and he pounds his little fist on his knee and says, "Here is what he predicts—and he says that his home papers publish the news freely:—

Japan is preparing to drive the Japanese out of her territory. It won't be long now—maybe 15 years, maybe 20 or 25 years—but the time is coming when China, both the northern and southern republics now at sword's point, will be firmly reunited and will be carefully trained in the rudiments of arms, will spring to the colors. It will be a terrible war, but China will win, and Japan will wish, when that day comes, that she had never set foot on our land and her gain of loot, rapine and conquest. Remember what I tell you. Mr. Reporter for The Sun. I may not be here then. I may not be living, but just as sure as I am standing here talking to you today, that great day for China is coming, and she will take her place with the great nations of the world and be one of the 'Big Five' instead of Japan. I know what I know—every Chinaman knows what he knows, and we all know that that day is coming. And we shall look for the friendship of the United States when the struggle comes, as it must come, just as we have relied upon this country to help us in the past."

Wong announced that his youngest boy is coming back to Lowell next year to resume his education in the Lowell public schools, and will later enter business here.

The laundryman's favorite newspapers from abroad now include the Chung Shai Yui Po, a daily published on Sacramento street, San Francisco; the Ming Sun, Shanghai, and the Sun Hei Weekly, a "New Republican" paper, published at 16 Pell street, New York city.

Wong's final request was that The Sun would emphasize the fact that China wants the United States to help her—to do more for her in the future than she has done in the past. And here it is, but without the emphasis that Wong put on the request when he uttered it.

12 OF CREW DROWNED

Men Hurlled Into Sea When
Ship Foundered—Survivors
Tell of Grim Battle

ST. JOHN, N. B., Jan. 31.—The story of a grim battle with shifting freight was told by 23 survivors of the crew of a new, electrically-driven Norwegian steamship Mod, which foundered in mid-ocean Jan. 22.

The survivors were brought into port aboard the steamer Melmore Head, which arrived on the scene just as the Mod gave her last lurch. Capt. Waerli, one of his officers, the steward and four firemen drowned when their lifeboat capsized.

Chief Engineer Iverson told the following story of the wreck:

"We left New York, Jan. 13, bound for Antwerp, Bremen and Hamburg, with general cargo.

"On Tuesday, Jan. 17, we ran into heavy weather. A strong gale was blowing and the seas were running high.

"On Wednesday we were buffeted about by the wild sea and in the worst of the storm the ship suddenly keeled over to port, the cargo having shifted. We put the men to work and managed to get it partly righted, but the ship was being tossed about so on the large containers that the cargo again settled to port. The sea had in addition broken into the forecastle and driven the men out of their quarters.

"The steamer was making fairly good progress despite this, until Friday, when the storm increased in intensity and the mountainous seas kept breaking over us, one crashing wave a section of the bridge and the pulling. The pumps were started, but it was evident that the ship was straining badly.

"On Saturday a terrible sea broke over the steamer and threw her over on her side and she failed to right. She was lying at about 45 degrees and we had to stop the engines. The steering chains had also been jammed by the deck cargo and so we were tossed helplessly about. We sent out an 'S. O. S.' call for help.

"One of the men discovered the cooking in the scullery and suffering agony. He had been at work when the ship was thrown over by the sea and a large pot of scalding water was hurled over him.

"On Sunday the steamer was filling rapidly, despite the fact that the pumps were kept going steadily. We decided to launch a small boat, as our life-boats had been broken up or carried about. In trying to do so, First Officer Knudsen was jammed between it and the side of the steamer and was quite badly injured.

"Sunday, at noon, the Melmore Head hove in sight and at about 5.30 o'clock came as close as possible to us. They launched a boat and just had three men in it when the Mod suddenly gave a lurch and then pitched over and sunk. "We were all on the deck and were pitched into the sea. It was just a wreckage and freight."

"Some of us secured hold of wreckage and other pieces of freight and kept afloat until picked up by our rescuers. The water was terribly cold, and in a weakened condition for lack of food we had a hard time struggling until we were eventually landed safely on the Melmore Head."

PREMIER ENTERTAINS 300
UNEMPLOYED AT DINNER

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 31.—Hjalmar Branting, the socialist premier of Sweden, recently gave at his own cost a dinner to 300 unemployed men and women of Stockholm. The premier and Mrs. Branting acted as host and hostess, while the guests were waited upon by society women of the capital, among them, Mrs. George Branting, the wife of the premier's son.

Later in the evening, the guests were given hot baths and provided with lodgings in the municipal lodging houses of Stockholm.

This is believed to be the first time that the premier of a European state has personally entertained his destitute constituents. When his guests had eaten their fill, Premier Branting addressed them on the economic conditions in Sweden.

The premier began by informing them that neither this dinner nor any other private or public aid extended to men and women without work was in any sense charity, but simply what was rightfully due them from those who were fortunate enough to be able to help. He said it was not their fault that they were without means of livelihood, but the fault of warped conditions throughout Europe.

Mr. Branting warned his guests that the efforts of the state to better social and economic conditions could not be expected to lead to immediate results.

Alluding to the chaos in Russia, he declared that the slow-moving efforts of the old established government system to improve social conditions was infinitely preferable to the breaking up of the old system. The world had seen where such a course led. But social solidarity, he continued, emanated from every person that he held as far as he possibly could in relieving the distress of the more unfortunate.

"I hope," the premier continued, "that others will follow this example and that you will see thereby an utterance of social solidarity, which breaks through all barriers."

The premier's speech, which was delivered with great earnestness, was received with spontaneous and enthusiastic applause.

Another Outbreak of Influenza Threatened

HOW TO ESCAPE THE DISEASE

Importance of Immediate Attention to First Symptoms of the Malady

Most Dangerous Form Often Mistaken for a Simple Cold

Reports from different parts of the country point to the probability of another widespread outbreak of influenza or grippe. The extremely serious character of this disease and the extraordinary rapidity with which it spreads make it of the utmost importance that every person should have some knowledge of how it can often be escaped.

It is now known to be a fact that this highly contagious disease does not attack every one who is exposed to it. It is perfectly clear that if it did so no one would escape an attack during an epidemic. It has been proved to the point of absolute certainty that influenza only develops in those who have had their vital forces, or powers of resistance to infection, reduced below a given level of safety. This reduction of the vital forces may result from repeated exposure to cold or dampness or it may and often does result from some minor illness that has been quite forgotten. It is for this reason that an outbreak of influenza often follows a prolonged period of severe weather and generally claims for its sufferers the old and enfeebled or those in a debilitated condition.

With this understanding of why some are more apt than others to contract influenza, it is plain that the best way to escape the disease is by keeping the vital forces at the highest possible level. This can be done by the use of a reliable restorative. As a matter of fact, the timely use of a promptly acting restorative often prevents an attack of influenza from assuming a dangerous type.

One of the greatest dangers connected with influenza is that the disease, during its onset, is often mistaken for a simple or ordinary cold until some sudden turn for the worse reveals the critical condition of the sufferer. To guard against any such misfortune, it is advisable to look upon certain symptoms as possibly due to influenza and to begin taking a restorative as soon as they are felt. These symptoms are "running of the nose," headache, backache, low or high fever, chilly sensations and a feeling of exhaustion.

Strong stimulants of all kinds should be avoided. It is true that they do give temporary support to the heart and to the nervous system at times, but this action is always followed by a corresponding depression, which may prove disastrous. It is far better and safer to take such a restorative as Wincarnis, which has been prescribed by physicians in these cases for almost half a century. One dose of Wincarnis three or four times a day is quite sufficient for one whose strength and vital forces have been exhausted, and it is an admirable tonic for those who are exposed to or are recovering from influenza. Naturally, all sorts of tonics are being advertised at this time, and the most extravagant claims are being made for some of them, so it is all the more important that no substitute for Wincarnis be accepted from a dealer. Avoid disappointment and possibly worse by insisting that you get Wincarnis, the famous restorative and general tonic recommended by over 10,000 physicians.

WINCARNIS is sold in Lowell by Bucklinshaw Drug Co., 416-418 Moody street, and at all other first class drug stores. For free booklet, WINCARNIS FOR FREE BOOKLET, HUNTER, DRUG CO., 110 N. BROAD ST., NEW YORK, N. Y. City.

The door is lettered in gold in a very attractive pattern.
